

City of Newport Beach's website has the ability to search for a particular address to find active short-term rental permits:

The screenshot shows the City of Newport Beach website. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for HOME, CONTACT US, and REPORT A PROBLEM. Below this, a secondary navigation bar includes GOVERNMENT, I AM A..., HOW DO I..., and TRENDING. A search bar is located on the right side of this bar. The main content area is titled 'SEARCH FOR AN ADDRESS' and is part of the 'Short Term Lodging (Rentals)' section. It includes a breadcrumb trail: Government » DEPARTMENTS » Finance » Revenue Division » Short Term Lodging (Rentals). The page features a list of links on the left: Short Term Lodging Application Process, Short Term Lodging Property Complaint, Reference, Search for an Address (highlighted), and Rules to Remember. The main content area contains the heading 'SEARCH FOR AN ADDRESS' and a subheading 'Interactive Map & Address Search'. It explains that the Interactive Map or Address Search tools can assist with information for a particular property, listing: Active Short Term Lodging Permits, Short Term Lodging allowed subject to zoning compliance, and Properties permitted prior to June 2004 per M.C. 5.95.020. It also states 'Active Short Term Lodging Permits - Total: 1,325' and '*Updated daily'. At the bottom, there is a section for 'Click Interactive Map to view' or 'Enter Address Below:', which includes a small map preview and an 'Enter Address' input field with a 'Search' button.
