make wonderful use of the space that serves no purpose but as a buffer and view enhancer for the neighborhood. A skateboard park will not affect views. Bike racks will not be a parking lot. Noise? It's public property and has been for years. I strongly urge that this location be seriously considered. It's time to finally do this. Our community has been paralyzed when it comes to lifestyle enhancement development due to an overriding concern for property values. Creating a community for our citizens enhances everyone's property value.

I have notice that there are many skate boarders around the city hall mall area. Why not make that the city skate park? the skateboarders seem to enjoy the area. It is close to police and paramedics.

I grew up in MB, I came up as a sponsored skateboarder in the 80's and eventually started a globally recognized skateboard company. I still live in MB and now have kids. For the past 30 years, I've seen a lot and been on both sides. In the mid 80's Manhattan Heights actually had a wooden skatepark and it worked well for the time. Since then, so much has changed in the world and so much to show that skateboarding and action sports are part of youth culture as much as traditional sports. Unfortunately MB has lagged severely in keeping up with the times in supporting what kids want. A dedicated skate park should be mandatory and provide the best options as any other public facility should provide. It's important to put the time and effort into something that can be iconic as other iconic MB public spots. If you fail to make the proper choices of the people and actual users of the sport, then all may be done for nothing. Listen to the kids...

From a MB resident for 15 years and a father of 4 I would love to see the city of MB step up and pay attention to a growing sport. It's no different than putting in a basketball or tennis court into our city parks. Thanks

Please think bigger. Bowls, half pipes, etc. More focus on bikes. The Marine location should include the adjacent portion of Redondo Ave.

People are worried about the parking and traffic in the manhattan heights area but manhattan heights already has it's own parking lot and it's mostly empty all of the time, and for the traffic worries most kids and teens don't drive or use cars to get to skatespots or skateparks.

As a 30 y/o skater (not a 14 y/o) wherever the park is, it should be user-friendly for all ages. A transition style is the most adult-friendly and not to mention quieter. On the other hand, skateable art and streetscape is heavily geared towards teens (b/c you need good joints) and is usually a lot louder. Parking in my neighborhood (Strand & 44th) is so crazy, I would worry a skate park would make it worse. The funny thing is I'm seeing a lot of responses favoring skateable art, probably because "art" sounds nice to them, but they really have no clue as to what that entails. Old people who don't even skate should have zero input on the element, since they're not the ones using it. I bet if they actually knew skatable art would cause more noise, they wouldn't be voting for it!

parking is not a problem at el porto. many kids will skat thre on thier own (since they won't have to cross sepulvida) and there is plenty of el porto parking for those that need it.

Build a Bowl! Build multiple Bowls! Use the cash the city gets from uncurbed tire tickets and build parks in ALL THREE locations :) Build the park right or don't build it at all! There is a whole city of alleyways, banks, hills, driveways, sidewalks, etc. providing endless variety for the true surfskatestyle enthusiast. Skate Fast and Be Prepared to Fall! SouthBayAlleyWay Skate&Create! Build a Pool, Build a Bank, Let it Flow! look at VolcomSk8park in MammothLakes, theCove in SantaMonica, Venice Beach park, and the new PeckParkSk8park in Pedro for inspiration on design and the proper use of space. Please use this opportunity to create a unique skatespot that caters to all styles of skaters. Design and layout are crucial elements to consider if the city wants to promote a vibrant positive experience within the confines of the traditionally anti-establishment endeavour we all love as skateboarding. Please don't even consider the SkateDot unless they can be built everywhere. Please study the layout of skateparks all over the state of Oregon! Planners may get an idea of how best to integrate a skatepark into the community with limited impact and successful potential.

Having a skateboard facility at El Porto would essentially invite skaters to use the the bike path. Considering that the city wants to enforce the "bikes only" rule on the path, that's just asking for problems. On another note, I am surprised that these "top potential site" options are so small. We have a large number of skaters, and it's really time the city got serious about accommodating them. It's a shame we keep downplaying the legitimacy of the need for a real skatepark. I don't have a skater in my family, but I think we should provide those kids (and adults) a place to ride that's safe and off of public streets and structures. Why should tennis players, soccer players and baseball players get all the land???? Put a skatepark by Begg. Wasn't the school district considering selling their operations facilities near there? Put it near the schools so kids can use it after class. While we're at it, let's replace Begg Pool. It's about time this city had a pool that meets the needs and the standards of its citizens.

Marine Park and Heights park are already busy with rec programs, sunset league basketball, traffic from concerts in the park, and Northrup Grumman traffic that is traveled by employees and non employees. These parks are also used by members of neighboring cities for rest and relaxation. It's about time that something go on the other side of town, besides the best restaurants/shopping/landscaping, and new fire facilities.
