COMMISSION ITEMS

(The following discussion occurred at the beginning of the meeting, after the approval of minutes)

Outstanding summer readers will be recognized at the September meeting. Three students each at the elementary, middle and high school levels will be recognized and will be invited by the librarians to attend the meeting.

Commissioner Windes asked how the readers are chosen. Ms. McCollum stated that the number of books read is not tracked and there are games and incentives during the summer reading program. The Childrens and Teen Librarians chose the recipients this year. Recipients were chosen based on their level of participation in various areas. Commissioner Windes stated that in the future, it would be good to have defined criteria. Manager Kelso offered that the criteria might be something that is set by the commission. Ms. McCollum stated that the criteria could be considered for the Outstanding Reader recognition, however, the reading program itself is dictated by the County and is consistent throughout the LA County Library system. Commissioner Kunkee stated that for the past one to two years there has been an initiative to reduce stress and dial back the competition. One way to dial back the competition is to have some people randomly picked for an award that does not involve competition. For example, pick some recipients from the heart; readers who may not be the best readers but who have had great attendance or helped out. Commissioner Windes reiterated her desire to have some general criteria for recognition. Commissioner Casady inquired if there are published criterion in place for the current program. Ms. McCollum replied that there are goals on the game cards and participants receive prizes when they meet those goals.

Commissioner Schreiner asked how the winners would be introduced. Ms. McCollum envisioned that they would be announced by the appropriate librarian for their age group. The commission discussed what questions they would ask the participants. It was decided that the questions would be the following, and will be provided to the students ahead of time with the understanding that they will be speaking for about 1 minute:

1. What is your favorite book and why? (elementary)
2. Why do you like coming to the library? (elementary)
3. What do you love about reading? (middle and high school)
4. Where is your favorite place to sit in the library and why? (middle)
5. How do you learn about new books to read? (high school)

Ms. McCollum stressed that this is a celebration and that speaking should be optional. The commission agreed as there will always be shy students.

Commissioner Kunkee gave an update on the Little Free Libraries (LFL) – work is continuing at the various locations. The Joslyn Center location is stalled as the Girl Scouts are awaiting a final artistic design from the older adults. Work will slow down a bit now that school is starting. The Scouts will sand and prep the Joslyn Center LFL and the design will be completed by the older adults.

Commissioners Schreiner and Windes attended the opening event for Method Movement Memory which was lovely and well attended.

Commissioner Windes gave kudos to Ms. McCollum and her staff for the Movie at the Library event which was well attended and enjoyed by all.

Commissioner Kunkee mentioned that she had spoken with Councilmember Howorth and Mayor Lesser regarding putting the subject of Library hours on the September agenda and they did not know of the request. Manager Kelso explained that the request is submitted to City Council with the commission approved minutes for the meeting in which the decision to make the request was made.

Commissioner Windes asked for clarification on the process for commission minutes being submitted to City Council for approval. Manager Kelso will speak with Linda Robb to confirm the process.

Commissioner Windes proposed a Blind Date with a Book. The concept is to offer used books wrapped in brown paper with a ribbon and cute tag lines, to people free of charge. She has spoken to Jacquelyne May, Cultural Arts Commissioner, who is holding a North Manhattan Beach Art Walk on September 23rd. Commissioner Windes proposed for the commission to host a booth for Blind Date with a Book, staffed by Commissioners Windes and Schreiner. Commissioner Casady liked the idea.

Commissioner Kunkee made a motion for the Library Commission to support Commissioners Windes and Schreiner's Blind Date with a Book booth at the North Manhattan Beach Art Walk as proposed. Commissioner Casady seconded the motion. The motion passed.
