

To the City of Manhattan Beach City Council.

We live on Walnut Ave between Marine and 19th Street. The City painted a ridiculous white pedestrian line going down the east side of the street creating a pretend sidewalk on the street. No one has asked us our opinion about this. It was approved years ago and the city forgot to implement it. It provides no useful purpose. We have been told that the city will reevaluate the line in the fall when the kids are back in school. The kids are now in school and we have not noticed any difference in their walking patterns. In fact, people are using it as a parking guideline therefore making it difficult for kids to walk inside the line. Studies have shown the safest way for kids to walk is against the traffic so they can see the oncoming traffic; this pedestrian area would then mean that the kids would be putting themselves in danger by walking with traffic some of the time. We have now received 3 letters about this silly line from the city in the last two weeks or so. The next to last letter told us that the line would remain in place during the slurry seal. Then the latest letter told us that the contractor accidentally removed it and will now replace it. We don't want it. Do not replace it. It is a waste of money and time to put the line back.
